DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The Applicant has relied on subject matter incorporated from a cancelled base claim, claims 1-6. Therefore, the claimed subject matter of claims 7-9 are indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 7-8 and 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Zehel et al. (5251611). In regard to claims 10, and 13-15 Zehel et al. shows a shape transferring cannula with first rigidizing section 11, flexible steerable tip at distal end 12 of the first rigidizing section 11, second rigidizing section 10 coupled to first section 11, first and second sections being slidably coupled and laterally parallel, and proximal end 13 comprising control mechanism with advancing feature 15 and 40 (column 4, lines 35-

Art Unit: 3736

40 and column 9, lines 18-21 Fig. 2 and 7). In regard to claim 8, Zehel et al. shows a second rigidizing sheath section 10 comprising a plurality of cables 20 of equal radial distance from the central axis accompanied by tension means, pulley, and a cable guide channel 21 (column 7 lines 26-51). In regard to claim 11, Zehel shows first rigidizing section 11 comprising an accessory lumen 12a at distal end 12.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zehel et al. in view of Secrest et al. (6666847). Zehel et al. shows a shape transferring cannula including a pulley tension means. Zehel et al. lacks disclosure of the pulley relative to the axis. Secrest et al. teaches a flexible cannula including a pulley 126 positioned off axis (Figure 2 and 3) of central lumen. Therefore it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Zehel et al. with a pulley positioned off axis as taught by Secrest et al. for the purpose of receiving surgical instruments.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed August 13, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the Zehel et al. reference fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., "laterally parallel" rigidizing sections) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). The Applicant argues that the term "laterally parallel" defines a structure that has two adjacent and parallel structures. The Examiner submits that the Applicant's disclosure does not support this claimed limitation. Therefore the Examiner believes that Zehel et al. teaches a first and second rigidizing sections that are laterally parallel.

In response to applicant's argument that the references of Zehel et al. and Secrest fail to teach or fairly suggest a pulley for tensioning, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
